Terms of agreement

1. Application of the Act and Regulations

The Residential Tenancies Act 1995 and related regulations apply to all residential tenancy agreements in South Australia. An agreement or arrangement that is inconsistent with the Act is invalid.

2. Maintenance of premises – landlord

The landlord will hand over the premises in a reasonably clean condition, maintain it in a reasonable state of repair and meet all health and safety legal requirements.

3. Maintenance of premises – tenant

The tenant will keep the premises in a reasonably clean condition and notify the landlord of any damage or repair. The tenant must not intentionally or negligently cause or allow damage to the premises.

4. Use of premises

The tenant will not use or allow the premises to be used for an illegal purpose, or cause or allow a nuisance. The tenant must not cause or allow an interference with the reasonable peace, comfort or privacy of another person who lives in the immediate vicinity of the premises.

5. Handing over possession of the premises without restrictions

At the start of the agreement the landlord will not restrict the tenant from having full use of the premises (except for any part reserved for the landlord's own use). The landlord is not aware of anything that would prevent the tenant from living in the premises for the term of the tenancy.

6. Tenant's right to peace comfort and privacy

The tenant is entitled to peace comfort and privacy without interference by the landlord or other tenants of the landlord.

7. Landlord's right of entry

All entry must be made between 8am and 8pm on any day other than a Sunday or public holiday. The landlord may enter the premises as listed in section 72 of the Residential Tenancies Act 1995.

8. Locks and security devices

The landlord will provide and maintain locks and other devices so that the premises are reasonably secure. Neither party will alter, remove, or add a lock or security device without the consent of the other. Neither party will unreasonably withhold consent to the alteration, removal or addition of a lock or security device by and at the expense of the other.

9. Alterations and additions

The tenant must not, without the landlord's written consent, make an alteration or addition to the premises. The landlord will not unreasonably withhold consent to an alteration or addition that is necessary to ensure the provision of infrastructure or a service of a prescribed kind.

10. Removal of an alteration or addition

The tenant may remove an item that was added with the landlord's consent, unless its removal would cause damage. If damage is caused by removing an item, the tenant must notify the landlord and, at the option of the landlord, repair the damage or compensate the landlord for the reasonable cost to repair the damage.

11. Subletting or assignment

The tenant has the right, with the landlord's written consent, to sublet or assign their interest of the premises to another. The landlord cannot unreasonably withhold consent but can charge reasonable expenses for giving consent.

13. Termination by landlord or tenant for breach of agreement

If a breach can be remedied, the landlord or tenant can issue a notice for the breach. The notice must be in a written form required by regulation, must detail the breach and that if the breach is not remedied within the specified period the tenancy will end.

14. Termination for rent arrears

If the tenant fails to pay rent, rent must be at least 14 days behind before the landlord can issue a notice of termination for the breach. The notice must be in a written form required by regulation.

15. Termination on hardship grounds

Either the landlord or the tenant can apply to the South Australian Civil and Administrative Tribunal (SACAT) to terminate a tenancy because the continuation of the tenancy would cause undue hardship.

16. Termination by landlord – specific reason

The landlord can terminate the agreement by giving at least 60 days notice in the written form required by regulation if:

- possession is required for demolition;
- possession is required to carry out repairs or renovations that can't be done with reasonable convenience while the tenant remains in the premises;
- possession is required for personal occupation or occupation by the landlord's spouse, child, parent, or the spouse of a child or parent;
- a contract for sale of the premises has been entered into under which the landlord needs to give vacant possession to the new owner.

17. Termination by landlord – no specific reason

The landlord can terminate the agreement by giving at least 90 days notice without specifying any reason for the notice. The notice must be given in the written form required by regulation.

18. Termination by tenant – no specific reason

The tenant can terminate the agreement by giving at least 21 days, or a period equivalent to a single tenancy period (whichever is longer) notice without specifying any reason for the notice. The notice must be given in the written form required by regulation.

19. Insurance

If parties want to insure the property; the landlord would be responsible to insure their dwelling, fixtures and fittings. The tenant would be responsible to insure their personal belongings and furnishings.
