Land Services Moves to Housing, Property & Land on SA.GOV.AU

The South Australian Government's Ask Just Once strategy establishes a single online entry point for government information and services - sa.gov.au for business and community customers. The Land Services Group in collaboration with other Government agencies is part of the Housing, Property and Land franchise on sa.gov.au. In March 2011 the majority of Land Services website content was migrated to the Housing, Property and Land franchise and our new "home page" www.sa.gov.au/landservices went live.

In the coming weeks the Land Services Group will begin to decommission pre-existing web pages. Once a webpage has been officially retired users will be automatically re-directed through to the corresponding content on the new site. The new site is customer centric and is structured around topics and themes of interest to customers, without the need to understand the organisational structure of Government. Content on the site will still be managed by the Land Services Group.

Our existing applications will retain the same functionality within the new franchise. Access to online systems such as PropertyAssist, PIERS Online and Property Location Browser will not change. This is an improved and innovative way for the community to now locate property information and services from one source.

We strongly encourage you to explore the franchise to familiarise yourself with it and promote it to colleagues. The following links are examples of the two different page structures on the site;

We will continue to keep all customers and relevant stakeholders informed throughout the transition process. For further information, please contact lsgfeedback@sa.gov.au
