EYESIGHT STANDARDS

EYESIGHT VISION

Vision Tests	Vision tests shall be conducted by a suitably qualified optometrist, eye specialist or medical practitioner, who will provide the applicant with documentation (this form or similar) to testify the result.
Standard	With or without aids to vision	Without aids to vision
Applicants should achieve the standards provided in both columns.	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Snellen Principle – 6/6 (0.0 LogMar) in the better eye and 6/9 (0.2 LogMar) in the other eye. • Read N5 chart at 300–500mm. 	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Snellen Principle 6/60 (1.0 LogMar) in each eye.
Use of aids to vision	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Aids to vision are the only optical aid that may be used in a vision test. • A person whose eyesight test results indicates that an aid to vision was used for the purpose of being found medically fit shall, at all times when on duty on a vessel, use such aid when appropriate and keep a spare aid to vision available.
Monocular vision	Persons with only one eye, or poor vision in one eye (i.e. monocular vision) may still meet the standard. Note: Persons with monocular vision and those employing or supervising persons with monocular vision need to be aware of the dangers of operating cranes and other similar lifting appliances where monocular vision may limit depth perception and impact safety.

COLOUR-VISION

Ishihara Test	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • The Ishihara Test shall be conducted using all 24 plates. • To pass the test, a person must correctly identify at least 13 of the first 15 plates in the 24-plate version. • The only aids to vision that may be used for colour vision testing are prescribed lenses worn by a person for the acuity test. • Tinted glasses or contact lenses cannot be used. • Colour correction devices cannot be worn for colour testing. • Where an applicant fails the Ishihara colour vision test, they may be re-examined with the "Holmes-Wright Lantern Test Type B".
