The Wakefield Regional Council does not currently contain areas where the full code for new dwellings applies. The areas will be reviewed as part of the staged roll out of the Code in medium and general bushfire areas. This will be reviewed in mid 2010. However, the Code for single storey dwelling additions and other minor domestic structures applies in the council area.